GOVERNOR'S MESSAGE.

Gentlemen of the Senate and House of Representatives:

I congratulate you and the whole country upon the gratifying result of the late Presidential election, which has terminated in the elevation of Gen. Grant and Hon. Schuyler Colfax to the highest official stations in the gift of the American people.

The result is especially satisfactory in view of the circumstances attending, and the principles involved in, the canvass now so happily closed. The issues were clearly defined; they were fairly and strongly brought before the American people, and they were pronounced upon with a degree of unanimity seldom, if ever before, witnessed in our national history.

It is unnecessary to repeat them in this connection, further than to say that they show a just appreciation of the invaluable services rendered to the country by the highly distinguished General now elected the Chief Magistrate of the Republic; they also display a confidence in his integrity and ability which I cannot for a moment allow myself to believe misplaced. They declare, moreover, most unmistakably, that the American people will sustain at the polls by the ballot—as they vindicated triumphantly in the field—the principles of loyalty and the men who adhere to them. In other words, that only thoroughly loyal men shall administer the Government of these United States, and that in such administration, as well as among those of unofficial station, loyal men, white and black, North and South, East and West, shall be protected.

The late election is the most emphatically pronounced judgment of the American people ever given, of the fundamental principles underlying our whole political fabric and contained in the immortal Declaration of 1776. As such, also, it fully vindicates the policy of the State administration of Tennessee during the last four years.

Perhaps never before, in the entire existence of the National Government—now nearly one hundred years—has there been displayed an equal measure of vituperation, unscrupulous falsehood, and reckless allegations as have been leveled against the successful candidates—a most melancholy proof, this, of the utter degeneracy and corruption of that party which, after instigating rebellion and aiding and abetting it during its progress, after its utter defeat gathered up its scattered fragments and adherents, and sought to invest itself with the full sanctions and powers of the Government it had vainly sought to destroy. Fortunately for our future as a people, and creditably for our record in history, the utter and overwhelming, and dishonorable defeat and overthrow of that party are accomplished by the intelligent energy, the incorruptible virtue and free, unswayed, unpurchased suffrage of American citizens.

Another special occasion for congratulation is found in the abundant favors with which a beneficent Providence has crowned the year. Goodly harvests have requited the husbandman. Sickness and wasting and mildew have been turned aside. God has graciously exempted us from "the pestilence that walketh in darkness, and the destruction that wasteth at noonday." Plentiful rewards have compensated honest industry, and general thrift and prosperity have attended our fellow-citizens.

THE RAILROAD QUESTION.

The six railroads in the hands of Receivers are indebted to the State, on interest account, due July 1, 1868, $1,120,996 86. The interest of these roads, as well as that of the State, require that they be sold, and the proceeds thereof be applied to the reduction of the State debt.

I would have seized the two other roads for failure to pay the July interest, and placed them in the hands of Receivers, but that I had learned by experience that to do so would only entail increased burdens upon the State Treasury.

I recommend that no more appropriations be made to railroads, except in those cases where the State has large interest in said roads, and would suffer heavy loss on account of the lack of such appropriations. Of this class are the roads running out, north and south, from Knoxville, and the one extending south from Morristown; and, also, the road of which Hon. Senator Parker is President. These roads, in order to become profitable and productive to the State, will require additional appropriations to enable them to complete their lines, so as to connect with other roads now in process of construction. I propose, however, to meet these demands in a way not to increase the liabilities of the State. The plan is this: Leading gentlemen connected with important railroads largely indebted to the State, are asking for authority to issue second mortgage bonds, with a view of exchanging them for State bonds; thus purchasing State bonds by the avails of these second mortgage bonds, the debt now due by the State would, in like amount, be transferred to these railroad companies, and so the State would be relieved of a burden of several million dollars of debt now resting upon it.

I regard this proposition with approval, and advise its adoption by the Assembly. The payment of large debts now due from the roads alluded to, and the sale of the roads already in the hands of Receivers, would reduce the State liabilities at least one-third.

This plan, it is seen, would enable the General Assembly not only to reduce materially the State's liabilities, but also to render such necessary additional aid to the roads whose completion is demanded by considerations of public economy.

Several of the railroad companies have unsettled accounts with the sinking fund, the State being indebted to them and they being indebted to the State. It is important that an early settlement of these accounts be had. I recommend, therefore, that the proper action be had by your respective Houses to procure the desired settlement with the said roads.

Since the adjournment of your extraordinary session, the Comptroller has visited New York and made satisfactory arrangements for the payment of the July interest. This fact, together with the result of the late State and Presidential elections, has induced an appreciation of our State bonds and a material depreciation in the price of gold.

The occasion serves to allude to the gratifying fact that, financially and otherwise, Tennessee occupies a far more desirable condition than any of the Southern States recently in rebellion. Thus the policy of reconstruction maintained by the Union Republican party of Tennessee finds ample and triumphant vindication by its achievements among us; and thus, also, the path of our future growing prosperity is traced for us by the history of the last four years. We have only to follow up with steady nerve and unfaltering step the policy thus far so successful, to assure to this great Commonwealth that degree of thrift, wealth and power to which our natural position, our boundless resources and our enterprising population so eminently entitle us.

THE BANK OF TENNESSEE.

This institution has been in the hands of officers appointed by authority of the General Assembly for three years past, with a view to having its affairs wound up and its effects made available to the resources of the State. I am unable to state the condition of its affairs, or what progress has been made in the direction proposed. I have seen, from time to time, as you also have, the report of its President. I have no other complaints to make against its officers than to express my regrets at the slowness of its movements towards the conclusion desired, and I recommend that measures be adopted to wind it up forthwith.

THE FRANCHISE.

Strenuous efforts were made at your recent extraordinary session to induce you to extend the franchise, and include within it those who by the law and constitution of the State are deprived thereof. Not unlikely the attempt will be renewed and enforced during your present meeting.

There should be a discrimination exercised concerning those who were in rebellion. They are not all alike culpable for the past, nor untrustworthy for the future. For those who were involuntarily drawn into the service of rebellion, and who, since its utter failure, have given evidence that they accept the results in good faith; that they are good citizens, quiet and law-abiding; that they have strictly observed their parole; that they will not use political power to proscribe and degrade those whom the war has emancipated and invested with the rights of citizens—for disfranchised persons of this description the franchise might safely, and therefore wisely, be extended. The extension should, however, be applied with suitable guards and checks, that advantage could not be taken of its liberality to the danger and harm of the State.

As to the other class of rebels, who entered into it voluntarily and continued in it from choice until their arms were wrenched out of their hands, and who, since the surrender, and in moral violation of their parole, have continued to work for the lost cause—who are restless agitators, who have fomented violence and lawlessness, who have incited to public disquiet and restiveness the question of their restoration to full civil rights, it is very different. If the time should ever come when they should be thus restored, I submit that it would probably be when the last dollar of the national debt incurred in suppressing the rebellion has been paid, and when these unrepentant, unreconstructed rebels had restored to the ballot box the half million voters who now sleep in premature graves.

These suggestions are made in no vindictive, implacable hostility to these persons as men. They spring from considerations affecting the public welfare, the peace, stability and honor of the State and nation. Withholding the franchise from persons who have proved by four years of bloody resistance against the government, and by four years of uncured hatred against it and its defenders, that they cannot be safely intrusted with it, is to be regarded not so much a punishment as it is a wise and necessary precaution for the safety and welfare of our civil institutions.

THE INSANE ASYLUM.

The noble public charity known as the Hospital for the Insane, located in this vicinity, has done much for the relief of the unfortunate. It has deservedly received large assistance from the State.

There are now over three hundred patients under treatment, rendering the institution quite too much crowded for the comfort and improvement of the inmates. This is true of both the male and female wards, and also of the department of the colored insane, who are as really insane, requiring proper care and treatment, as an equal number of white lunatics. Should the Ezell farm, lying contiguous to the hospital, be purchased, which I advise, the chronic colored insane of the male department might be taken to the farmhouse on that tract, which, with a slight expense, could be made to accommodate twenty-five or thirty of them.

Better provision is needed to enforce payment from those who enter their friends as pay-patients, and who give the required bond, but from poverty or some other cause, fail to pay more than the amount of the bond, and pay that only after long delay and vexing and costly suits. The Superintendent should have authority, by law, to return such patients to their friends, or to require new and larger bonds.

The friends of many of the patients here from surrounding Southern States during the war, are doing their utmost endeavors to evade payment of their liabilities. Such patients were thrown unavoidably upon the institution when care and medicines were very high. Many have served bankrupt notices on the institution, and collection is, in various ways, delayed and resisted. The amount thus due the institution is in the neighborhood of forty thousand dollars. It is quite unfair that the citizens of Tennessee should be taxed to support the indigent insane of other States.

I therefore advise that an appeal be made to the Governors of the respective States concerned, to pay for the care and maintenance of said patients, and, in the event that payment is declined, that the Superintendent be instructed and authorized to return the patients to the localities whence they came.

West Virginia, subsequent to the war, paid the State of Ohio—the institution at Columbus—five dollars per week for the care of her insane during the war. Nothing, it seems to me, can be more just than that our neighboring States should pay for the care of their poor insane in our hospital.

The crowded condition of the hospital requires that an additional building, upon a smaller and less costly scale, be at once erected. Questions of economy, public convenience and humanity indicate that it be done, and soon. From its greater populousness and facilities for building, as well as salubrity, East Tennessee would seem to be the better entitled to its location there. I therefore recommend that it be established in East Tennessee.

THE PENITENTIARY.

The Penitentiary, like the Insane Hospital, is quite over crowded, to the injury of the discipline and also of the health of the institution.

Since your late adjournment, the Commissioners met, removed the Warden and elected another in his stead. Application has been made to me to set aside this action and reinstate the Warden. This I declined to do, upon the grounds that it would have been an unwarrantable assumption of power, and also in view of the fact that the General Assembly would soon again be in session. I advise that the whole subject be thoroughly investigated. Such an investigation is alike due to the State and to the parties who have been in dispute.

SALARIES OF CERTAIN OFFICERS.

I have found considerable difficulty in filling the Supreme Court bench and the inferior courts with qualified and suitable men, owing to the insufficiency of the salaries allowed to Judges of the Supreme and Chancery and Circuit Courts. No class of State officers do as much work for as little pay as the Judges. No offices in the State require more ability, attention, and hard work, or deserve equal remuneration. I must, therefore, urge the General Assembly to fix the salaries of these officers at a sum that will better remunerate them, and thus secure an order of talent and a degree of industry which shall be creditable to the State and useful to all parties.

I make a similar recommendation concerning the salary of the Governor. The present sum allowed him is entirely too low to sustain him in a style and manner appropriate to a large and wealthy State like Tennessee, and it is less than equal services in other offices require and receive. The present salary was fixed when prices of all goods were much below the present rates.

In making this recommendation I can not be deemed selfish, as it cannot personally benefit me. I shall soon exchange the office which I hold at present for one to which your votes have called me. Besides this consideration, I would be estopped from receiving such increased pay by the State Constitution.

IMMIGRATION.

I have repeatedly called your attention to the importance of promoting and inducing immigration to our State. On this subject my convictions have undergone no change, except that they have become stronger. A great and pressing want of Tennessee is an increased producing population. This alone will develop our wonderful resources and enhance our material wealth to a degree that surpasses imagination. In its absence our people will suffer a painful want, depressing business, retarding progress, dwarfing and paralyzing all industries.

Thus far, the great tide of foreign immigration has swept past us and poured itself out upon our vast national domain in the West and the Northwest; but an inconsiderable part of it has been diverted to our borders. Yet no other State offers equal inducements to those of Tennessee. Our mountains are rich in various minerals, our rivers are affluent in power to propel machinery, our State is grid-ironed with railroads, our forests abound with the finest of lumber, our soil is capable of enriching production, climate is genial and our scenery grand and beautiful. Added to all these advantages, with a good system of common schools, and a hardy, industrious, loyal, liberty-loving population, a central position among the States, and easy access to market in all directions, Tennessee is certainly one of the most attractive of States to those who would improve their condition by emigration, whether from foreign countries or from sister States.

Still, notwithstanding all these inducements, immigration in this languishes. Something more effective must be done to counteract the efforts made by other States, and by other lines of travel than ours, to direct emigration westward, so as to bring a larger proportion of it into our midst.

Other States have incorporated societies and appropriated considerable sums of money to further this object. They keep commissioners of immigration at the principal American and European ports. If we successfully compete with them we must adopt their tactics and emulate their zeal. Money and effort thus expended will come back with manifold increase.

I recommend that the General Assembly grant a liberal charter to responsible and energetic men as a State Immigration Society, and appropriate an adequate, annual sum to enable such society to prosecute the work of immigration to Tennessee with more vigor and upon a larger and more systematic scale than it has hitherto been done.

The present is an eminently auspicious moment for a movement of this kind. The election of Grant and Colfax means peace; it means that carpet-baggers are not to be molested in Tennessee; that capital, coming to us from abroad, whether of brains or hands or money, is not to be spurned, proscribed, persecuted, because it comes from north of a given line; that here, as elsewhere, we are to have peace, protection and security.

In pursuance of this thought, and to aid in inducing the influx of capital and labor among us, I recommend the General Assembly to pass a law exempting from taxation, for five years, all foreign capital invested in machinery within our State.

THE CATTLE PLAGUE.

My attention has been called to the ravages of the disease known as the cattle plague or the Texas fever among cattle, and also to the inadequacy of the laws enacted by the several States for the repression of this and other kindred diseases, and the conflicting provisions of these laws which have been disclosed since the prevalence of the disease.

There should be concert of laws in all the States to arrest the spread of a disease which threatens to destroy all our flocks and herds, and so deprive us of meat altogether, or furnish us a diseased article of food, which will scatter disease among the people. To effect this uniformity and efficiency of laws in all the States, it has been believed that the best would be the assembling of a convention of the several States interested in the subject, who would represent all the varied interests of the producing and consuming States, and supply all the information necessary for the full elucidation of the subject, and whose duty it should be to prepare a draft of a law which would insure a most perfect protection to all parties, to be recommended to the several Legislatures for adoption.

The cattle commissioners of New York, having been requested by the commissioners of several of the States, and of the dominion of Canada, to take the initiative in calling such convention, have recommended that a convention be held in the city of Springfield, in the State of Illinois, on Tuesday, December 1, 1868, at twelve o'clock at noon of said day. The object of such convention is to consider the pathology, symptomatology and history of the Texas cattle fever and other infectious and contagious diseases to which cattle and other stock are subject, and the best method of preventing the spread of such diseases with reference to the interests of the producer and consumer, and also to consider the sanitary requirements of the community with reference to the feeding and resting of the animals in transitu, and to the best methods of slaughtering and preparing them for market. The convention will also prepare a draft of a law which shall provide for the accomplishment of these objects to be submitted to the Legislatures of the States represented there for adoption. Each State and Province to be represented by three commissioners.

It seems to me these precautionary measures are wise and important, and I recommend you to take such early action as shall represent Tennessee in the proposed convention.

THE CAPITOL GROUNDS.

Your attention is called to the unfinished and unadorned condition of the grounds surrounding the State Capitol.

A building of such magnificent and beautiful proportions certainly deserves to be surrounded by grounds that would enhance, rather than detract from, its general beauty. Yet all can see that these grounds are in a condition rather to excite disgust than to elicit admiration.

I submit it would be a wise economy that would appropriate a few thousand dollars to the proper improvement and ornamentation of the grounds immediately around the Capitol, now so rude and unsightly. It would furnish employment to those who need it; it would raise the character of our State abroad, and so induce immigration, and it would gratify the just pride of every good citizen who is interested in the growth and improvement of the State.

THE STATE GUARDS.

The militia has not been mustered into service, and consequently no expense to the State has been incurred.

I have relied solely upon Maj.-Gen. George H. Thomas, who has fully met my expectations. Soon after the Legislative Committee returned from Washington Gen. Thomas communicated with me, seeking to learn into what counties and localities I desired him to send troops, and the probable extent of resistance or opposition which might be expected. I accordingly gave him the names of twenty-two counties in all, to which he promptly sent troops in sufficient numbers to preserve the peace and maintain the laws. The result is known to you as members of the General Assembly, and I need add nothing more.

THE STATE TREASURER.

Some ten days ago, the Treasurer, Jno. R. Henry, Esq., on account of ill health, resigned his office into my hands, said resignation to take effect as soon as he could adjust a settlement with the Controller of the State. I accordingly tendered the office to William H. Stillwell, Esq., of West Tennessee.

The duty will, therefore, devolve upon you to elect a Treasurer to fill out the unexpired term of Mr. Henry.

Having thus called your attention to the more material subjects deserving your official action, I close by invoking upon your labors, and upon the great Commonwealth represented by you, the blessings of Divine Providence.

Allow me to express the hope that you will go to work industriously, and complete your work in a short session.

W. G. BROWNLOW, Governor of Tennessee.

The Church of the Holy Sepulchre, at Jerusalem, has been completed. The foreign mails state that a formal instrument bearing witness the completion of the grand cupola, in conformity with the protocol of the 5th September, 1862, was signed on September 26th by the Governor of Palestine and the Consuls General of France and Russia.

The Board of Education, in New York city, has made an estimate of the expenditures for school purposes in 1869, which amount to $3,150,000. The Legislature had, however, authorized a fund of $3,375,888 to be raised, and the overplus of $225,888 is to be expended in increasing the salaries of the teachers and in erecting a normal school.

The Commissioner of Indian Affairs has recently sent out West an agent who, with Gen. By the failure of the old Bank of North Carolina, which is reported, the State of North Carolina will lose $50,000 of its Literary Fund, and the University of North Carolina $12,000. Other funds, the property of widows, orphans and charities, will also be lost. This bank was at the close of the war in a better condition than any other in the State.

A statement is going the rounds of the press, says the LaGrange Reporter, that Hon. B. H. Hill will soon make his residence in Augusta, Ga. This is a mistake. He only intends to open a law office in that city and concentrate his business there, while his family will continue to reside in Athens. This is the statement Mr. H. made to us.

A husband and wife, and their hired man recently rode to St. Johnsbury, Vt., where, while the husband was settling the lawyer's fees for a divorce from his wife on a charge of adultery, she and her hired man were being married. The first pair had eight children, the youngest only three weeks old, and the whole affair was so scandalous that the indignant neighbors compelled the newly married pair to leave for more congenial quarters.

It is said that one of the most important kinds of business carried on in Washington is the trade in public documents. The regular booksellers do a good deal in it; the prowling dealers much more; while here and there you may find a Government clerk clandestinely engaged in the business. Books are purchased there, directly from Congressmen for a mere trifle, and then sold to distant purchasers for fabulous prices. One dealer in old books, named Hunter, has no less than three establishments in Washington alone.

After making every allowance for the distance of the Australasian colonies from England, it must be confessed that their chief towns are making little progress. Thus, in the magnificent island of New Zealand, the principal cities, in December last, contained very little over 50,000 inhabitants, distributed as follows: Auckland, 11,153; New Plymouth, 2150; Wellington, 7480; Napier, 1827; Nelson, 5452; Picton, 467; Christ Church, 6047; Lyttleton, 2510; Dunedin, 12,778, and Invercargill, 2206. For all that, we are never to hear the end of British enterprise in the Antipodes.

A ghastly scientific discovery is reported from Turin, where Professor Casinarat, the celebrated oculist, has found a way of killing animals by forcing air into their eyes a few seconds, and almost without causing them pain. Experiments were recently made at the Royal Veterinary School, and it is said that they have fully proved the truth of the Professor's invention. Within the space of a few minutes four rabbits, three dogs and a goat, were killed in this manner. The most remarkable fact is that the operation leaves absolutely no outward trace.

A Californian has projected and finished in model what he fondly anticipates will prove the great ocat ship of the age. It is to be the same size as the Great Eastern, except that it will draw ten feet less of water, but as it is to be used exclusively as a passenger ship, the loss of tonnage amounts to nothing. The staterooms are to be situated amidships, where the occupants will not be so much affected by the rolling of the craft, and the engines and other machinery are to be placed in an outer jacket, as it were. Passengers are to be given bedsteads instead of bunks, and charged $50 for a passage to England, to be made in seven days, meals furnished at two "compelling restaurants" on board.

Postmaster General Randall has yet under advisement the action that should be taken by him in reference to the late act of Congress, providing for the establishment of a line of mail steamships between New York and Liverpool. The law does not give the Postmaster General discretion absolutely in the matter, but inasmuch as the parties who got up the project and lobbied the bill through are men of limited responsibility, and some of them entire," without means, the Postmaster General does not feel warranted in giving the Government's guarantee to $5,000,000, without receiving some security for the faithful application of this large sum to the purposes contemplated by the act of Congress. Besides, it is well known that the three millions intended to be guaranteed by the Government would not, even if legitimately applied, accomplish the pre-ended object of the steamship company, to build seven vessels, the number requisite, of the class necessary to perform the service. It would cost about $1,500,000 per vessel, or abo $8,000,000, which is nearly three times as much as the projectors of this enterprise ask to be guaranteed. It is not clear that they propose to put any funds of their own in the adventure, but rely wholly upon the money that may be raised upon the guarantee of the United States Government. It is said that several senators and about twenty members of the House are silent partners in the company.

The Washington Republican states that the election of Republican Senators in place of Messrs. Hendricks and Buckalew, the certainty that another will be chosen to succeed Mr. Doolittle, the retirement of Mr. Dixon to make way for Mr. Buckingham, and of Mr. Patterson, of Tennessee, together with the change made in consequence of the resignation of Mr Johnson, of Maryland, leave the Democratic weak in numbers in the next Senate. There will be 65 members, if we leave out Virginia, Mississippi and Texas. Of these the Democrats will have two each in Kentucky and Maryland, one in California, one in Minnesota, one in Ohio and one in Georgia, or eight in all. Unless we gain the Legislature in Nevada or New York—and we can have few hopes of either—the members will be sixty Republicans and eight Democrats.

The annual report of the Freedmen's Bureau, just made by Gen. Howard, shows an expenditure during the year of $4,987,009. He sees no necessity for continuing the Bureau beyond New Year's day, at which time it expires by Congressional limitation, and his recommendations for the future look only to continuing Freedmen's Hospitals at Washington, Richmond, Vicksburg, and New Orleans, the estimates for all of which amount to only $90,000. The educational work and that of aiding freedmen to collect their claims it is already provided by law, shall continue till further action is had by Congress. But the Bureau will have surplus funds enough to go on in this work without further appropriations. The sch ol expenditures during the past year were $2,6 0,000, of which the freedmen paid 1300,00; Northern Benevolent Societies, $700,000; the Bureau, $94,000.

A letter from Russia in the Vienna Presse gives a melancholy picture of the present condition of that country. The harvest in Russia is sufficient for the wants of the population, and incendiary fires and thefts are of constant occurrence. In the government of Vladimir four hundred and fifty thousand roubles have been stolen out of the public chest, and similar robberies have been discovered in Rieazn, where fifty-six thousand roubles are deficient, and at Moscow, where the loss amounts to forty-five thousand roubles. These thefts are generally ascribed to officials, and several of them have been dismissed in consequence. At Nijni-Novgorod orged fifty-rouble notes have circulated in such quantities that several merchants have sustained considerable losses.

Letters dated December, 1857, have been received from Dr. Livingstone, the African traveler. He was then at Morungu and Cazombe, situated west and southwest of Lake Tanganyika. He had been living for three months with friendly Arabs, and on the close of a native war, then in progress, was intending first to go to Ujiji and explore Lake Tanganyika, then to return to Zanzibar, on his way home. It is the belief of Sir Roderick Murchison, to whom the letters were addressed, that this news is confirmatory of the Bombay dispatch of October 3d, and he intimates that he is prepared very soon to hear of Dr. Livingstone's arrival at Zanzibar, perhaps from the traveler himself, who may arrive in England before Christmas.

The Nashville Banner of the 11th says: The Hon. Darsey B. Thomas and four of his brothers passed through the city on Tuesday, en route for their old homestead in Williamson county, where they were to meet four other brothers and three sisters, from whom they had been separated for the past thirty-five years. Five of the brothers are from Haywood county, one from Johnsonville, one from Texas and two occupy the old homestead. One sister from Arkansas, one from Rutherford, and the third lives in Williamson. All the brothers are said to be in good health and fine looking, and the sisters quite handsome They expect to remain in Williamson county for a week. We wish them a happy reunion.

GOVERNOR BROWNLOW'S MESSAGE.

On our first page this morning we print in full the Message of Governor BROWNLOW to the Legislature. It will attract attention without regard to its merits. We will endeavor to give attention to its several provisions to-morrow. For the present we content ourselves with a notice of the suggestions of the Governor on the subject of immigration, which just now is attracting very general attention throughout the State.

GONE TO ROME.

The Rector of the Church of the Blessed Virgin has gone to Rome, where, he says, he can alone find that true religion, and undefiled, which he has in vain sought to engraft upon the Protestant Episcopal Church in Memphis. Like a true man, the moment he found his convictions were in opposition to that which he was expected by the Church of his ordination to preach, he recants publicly and boldly, turns his back upon what he deems is error and his face to the Eternal City. This is what we looked for when we read our feverend friends first letters from Europe, in which he eulogized the Catholic faith, ritual and practice, as only a devotee of the ancient Mother Church can. In Europe, standing almost immediately in presence of Rome herself, Mr. ROGERS, for the first time confronted the Catholic Church as a national church, around which clusters the intellect, the culture and the intelligence of great nations. The germ of his Catholicity was quickened by the spectacle, expanded amid conflicts and doubts of mind, and the demands of the creed of Anglicanism, and eventually culminated in the Church of the Blessed Virgin where, as Priest, he has struggled out of Protestantism and into what is most congenial to his mind and his heart. As we once before remarked of him, he has leaned to Rome for fully twenty years. His reincantation must not, then, be considered as the result of any pressure from his late brethren of the Episcopal communion or as a means of shirking responsibilities to his late Bishop. It is simply the result of a train of thought, every connecting link of which is as clearly traceable as those from cause to effect. He is, then, to be congratulated for his consistency rather than be reflected upon for leaving a faith that was no longer speaking comfort or hope to him, and from which he could not draw the holy sustenance that is the life of every religious congregation, through its pastor. The friends of Mr. ROGERS must continue to regard him as a friend, in no way changed, save that he has transferred his allegiance to Rome, where he expects to find "the center of his Master's Kingdom."

IS IT A STRAW?

A special Washington dispatch to the New Orleans Times, a few days ago, contained the significant information that Gen. GRANT had quarreled with Illinois-WASHBURNE, the leader of the ultra wing, and for so many years the conscience-keeper of the President elect. If this be true, a greater earnest of GRANT's conservative disposition could scarcely be given. Coupled with his letter of acceptance, his general silence upon political matters, and his refusal to avail himself of any of the thousand chances to speak that have been afforded him by the people before and since the election, this quarrel with his reputed guardian may possibly be taken as a straw indicating that the wind blows toward a fair haven.

Commenting upon this statement from so intelligent a source, the Mobile Register says: "That President GRANT, when well settled in the White House, might very quietly intimate to the 'Great Moral Idea party' leaders that they had chosen to take him up as their only possible chance of success, and had accepted, indorsed and elected him without pledges or utterances of views as to his future course; and that he was in no way bound to their party creed; that his 'no policy' meant no policy until he was in position to make a policy available, when his policy would be dictated by his sense of duty to a whole country, of which he would be the Executive, and not a policy dictated by a partisan minority, as the party ostensibly electing him clearly is. But we confess that we did not expect a sign of the probable coming of this result so early in the day, as is given us by this bitter quarrel between GRANT and his former self-appointed spokesman, and the great oracle of the ultra Radical party. With this marked opening of the game, we shall look for speedy developments of an intended conservative policy by the President elect, which shall yet give us hope of a triumph of constitutional principles and a return to the sway of intelligent freedom, with its consequent benefits of political quiet and commercial prosperity."

RADICAL FAIR-PLAY.

A special dispatch to the Louisville Courier-Journal of the 10th says:

The anticipations in regard to cheating Sheafe Congressman elect in the Fourth District, out of his certificate, are fully realized. In the first place, as has been definitely ascertained, there were about 175 men in that district who were fully entitled to certificates by reason of their loyalty during the war, who were refused them by the registration Commissioner. Even with that and the registration of a heavy Democratic county annulled by Brownlow, it was found, after the election had taken place, that Sheafe was elected by over 200 majority, and now without even, as it is positively alleged, a pingle pretext for the villainy, after the Radical candidate had acknowledged his defeat through his own paper a sufficient number of votes have been thrown out to declare Tillman elected by a few votes. Of course the latter will get the certificate, and there is absolutely no redress in Tennessee against any decision Brownlow may make in such cases.

IMMIGRATION.

Governor BROWNLOW, in his Message, which we publish this morning, dwells with emphasis upon the subject of immigration, and urges some suggestions that will, if adopted, in our opinion, enable Tennessee to realize her proportion of the large number of immigrants daily reaching the Atlantic seaports from Europe. He recommends—and we hope the recommendation will meet with a hearty response from the Legislature—that a State Immigrant Society be formed, to be composed of responsible citizens, and to be subsidized by the Legislature by an annual appropriation. This would enable such a society to employ competent agents at all the important seaports, and make use of the multiplied means of information as to our soil, products and climate—such as is usually given, and by which immigrants are attracted to other States.

To this, the Governor should add the suggestion that a competent gentleman (such as can be named by any of our cotemporaries of Nashville), under the direction of a Committee of the Legislature, be employed to prepare a brief and concise pamphlet descriptive of our State, its mineral wealth, productiveness and productions, our climate and our water power, together with a true and faithful character of our people, the number of our churches, school houses, and our prospective increase. Such a pamphlet, translated into the German, Dutch, Danish, Swedish, French, Italian and Spanish languages, distributed throughout the respective domain of these countries, would inform their people and induce the immigration to encourage which Gov. BROWNLOW will find every good man in the State ready to lend a helping hand.

But this Society must not be a partisan one, nor be a mere machine for party purposes, nor be organized for the purpose of encouraging idle and vagrant officeholders. It should be as liberal in its composition as the purposes for which it is to be called into existence are broad and comprehensive. Only the true interests of the State should be consulted. No man should be permitted a share in its workings whose intelligence and character does not fit him for the peculiar labor of caring for and assigning immigrants, and looking after their welfare, at least until they are able to care for themselves. We hope that in this spirit and with this purpose, such a society will be immediately chartered and organized, so that by next spring the agents of Tennessee may be found everywhere in Europe where it is possible to induce emigration to our State.

INCREASE OF CAPITAL IN TENNESSEE.

It is estimated by many careful statisticians that the present crop of cotton will leave in the South, after all her Northern debts are paid, fully $100,000,000, which will seek investment or remain unemployed. The latter contingency we will of course not entertain, as peace is almost supreme and political turmoil has given place to business and commercial activity. What then will be done with it? There are no negroes to be purchased, and our planters, as a general thing, have more land than they can cultivate—indeed have millions of acres for sale. Manufactures and internal improvements must, then, engross this surplus capital, which if divided pro rata among the States, will give to Tennessee fully $9,000,000. This amount of capital in a single year, added to the investments that are sure to be made by Northern capitalists, must impart such an impetus to the railroad and other business operations of the State as will double these returns in the year 1869-70. Nine million dollars! What could we not have effected a year ago with that amount? $9,000,000 then added to the banking capital of the State would have proven sufficient to relieve us of the pressure under which all our business operations have been conducted since the close of the war. We might have completed many railroads now scarcely under way, and advanced ourselves in competition with the States north of us for the trade which, by reason of our geographical situation, belongs to us.

But, withal, there is surely in these figures cause for congratulation. And when it is remembered under what adverse circumstances they have been achieved,—that under an almost crushing taxation and the most disreputable State financial policy, our people have earned, within one year, this amount as a surplus, we have much to be thankful for, much to encourage us, and much to encourage for us that accession of population through which, eventually, we are to become in the truest sense independent, and as near self-supporting as any people can be.

And if from one crop, under adverse circumstances, and scarcel tithe of our land under cultivation, we realized this sum as a net gain, what may we not reach when peace is fully restored by the enfranchisement of the intelligence of the State, under a fair and reasonable financial policy, and with the spread of that harmony, without which human effort must always be shorn of much of its value?

NASHVILLE.

NASHVILLE, November 12.—A bill passed the Senate on first reading today, providing for the sale of the Nashville and Northwestern, Edgefield and Kentucky, Memphis, Clarksville and Louisville, and Winchester and McMinnville Railroads. The bill empowers the Comptroller, Treasurer and Secretary of State as commissioners to sell these railroads. If the sale is not made, they are authorized to lease the roads.

A joint resolution providing for the election of a State printer on the 16th inst. was adopted by both Houses.

Senator Cate, of Hamilton, introduced a preamble and resolution in the Legislature to-day to this effect:

WHEREAS, D. W. Senter, Speaker of the Senate, was a member of the Confederate Legislature of Tennessee, under Isham G. Harris, and had favored many acts of oppression of Union people, and had been clearly guilty of conspiracy and treason against the Federal Government; and that

Whereas, He was clearly ineligible to office under the 3d section of the 14th article of the Amendment to the Constitution, and all acts which he had signed as Speaker of the Senate illegal; therefore

Resolved, That the Speaker's chair should be declared vacant, and the Senate proceed at once to the election of a new presiding officer.

This document created a great deal of excitement in the Legislature, and was totally unexpected. It lies over for action to-day, when a stormy time is anticipated.

NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, November 12.—A Spaniard named Merino White, imprisoned on the charge of insanity in the Tombs, on Tuesday, attempted to set fire to his cell. He was severely injured by burns and almost suffocated by smoke. Little damage was done to the cell. He was taken to the Bellevue Hospital.

Admiral Farragut is expected to visit the Brooklyn navy yard to-day, and will be received with all the honors due his rank.

A meeting of the working Womens' Association was held last night, over which Susan B. Anthony presided. Several Sarrosians were present, who, it was believed, were anxious to get the control of the rising organization, but they were utterly defeated in their object by the representatives of the working women. The debate between the two factions was quite spirited, and the Sarrocians received several rebuffs; but the meeting adjourned peacefully. Miss Susan B. Anthony was elected President, Miss Ella Burleigh and Miss Elizabeth Brown Secretaries, and Miss Field, Treasurer.

Yesterday morning, on the Morris and Essex Railroad, it was discovered that a large number of cattle were being driven over the Grove street crossing, and the engineer of the locomotive thought if he slackened his speed he might be thrown from the track; so he accordingly dashed through them at full speed, tossing the cattle in every direction and killing five of them.

It was rumored last evening that the prize fight between Wormald and O'Baldwin was arranged to take place this morning at a sporting house in Amity street, and Capt. Caffrey detailed a number of men to keep watch of the roughs. It was also rumored at a later hour that Wormald had forfeited stakes, and that consequently the fight was again off.

In the Court of Common Pleas, before Judge Brady, in the divorce case of Theodore Sturtevant against Catharine Sturtevant, the referee to whom the case had been referred for taking testimony reported to the Court in favor of the defendant, on all the issues submitted to him, and which were the basis of the plaintiff's prosecution.

The Herald's cable special says that the Pope, through his Nuncio at Madrid, still refused to recognize the new Government of Spain; that at a meeting of French Bishops and Cardinals, in Rome, several reformatory measures were, to the great surprise of the conservative members, favorably received by a majority. Among the measures was one to revise the Council of Trent, concerning the celibacy of the Catholic clergy, and allowing them to marry. Another was to abolish the Latin Liturgy, and to have it printed in the language of the nation in which the service is performed. These measures will be submitted to the coming Ecumenical Council.

A prize fight between O'Baldwin, the Irish giant, and Wormald, occurred this morning at Washington N. J. The former was seconded by Joe Coburn and the latter by George Rooke. Only one round was fought. Wormald was sent flying to his corner, knocked insensible and his jaw broken, and could not come to time. No arrests.

It is reported that a New York insurance company has tendered Gen. R. E. Lee the position of supervisor of agencies for the Southern States, at a salary of $10,000.

The Tribune has the following:

MONTGOMERY, ALA., November 11.—Alabama has certainly gone for Grant.
[Signed] T. G. GLASSCOCK,
Chairman Republican State Convention.

A Havana letter of the 7th inst., says in the fight near Baire the Spanish troops retreated, having 135 men killed and wounded.

A cargo of arms and ammunition had landed for the insurgents at Nacpay Sartella. A small lot of rifles arrived at Havana on the 5th from the Spanish Government, and were taken immediately to the Eastern Department with reinforcements of troops. The insurgents want no reforms, but demand the independence of Spain and annexation with the United States. Puerto Principe is reported to have joined the revolt and it is expected a rising will soon take place near Havana. It is reported in Havana by Government authorities that the rebels agreed to lay down their arms on condition that all should be pardoned, but the Captain-General would not include Cespada and Arquilera in the amnesty.

Gen. Kilpatrick, through Gen. Whitaker of Hartford, replied to Gen. Forrest's denunciation by reiterating his own statement. Gen. Shackleford, to whom the reply is addressed, denies the truth of Kilpatrick's charges against Forrest in the Fort Pillow affair, and urges Whitaker to address a communication on the subject to Basil Duke or N. B. Forrest.

ST. LOUIS.

ST. LOUIS, November 12.—A petition was filed yesterday in the Circuit Court, by Elizabeth Seagelke, wife of Maj. B. H. Seagelke, asking ten thousand dollars' damages from her father, Henry B. Brant, for cruelly beating her. The immediate cause of the whipping is not stated, but it is understood Mrs. Seagelke ran away with the Major some time last spring, but all parties were soon after reconciled, and the young people have since lived with the lady's mother.

There was to have been a convention of General Railroad Freight Agents held here yesterday, but there being present a less number than necessary to transact business, they adjourned to meet in Chicago next Wednesday.

The recent heavy rains west and northwest of here have caused a rise in the rivers unprecedented at this season of the year. The river at this point rose between seven and eight feet since Tuesday, and several thousand dollars damage has been caused to freight lying on the levee. The gaffer dam at the bridge has also been filled, and the work has been suspended until the river falls again.

WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, November 12.—The Director of the Bureau of Statistics is preparing an elaborate report on statistics o taxation in the United States. It will exhibit the Federal, State, county, township and corporation taxation in detail. The whole sum of these various revenues now exceed seven hundred millions annually.

Brevet Brig.-Gen. Hiram Brooks today assumed command of this department. It is believed the present staff will be retained.

Another large number of visitors wore at Gen. Grant's headquarters to-day.

Secretary McCulloch and Attorney General Evarts this morning had a long interview with the President in relation to internal revenue matters.

The clerks in the redemption bureau were to-day counting the money recovered from the steamer Jacob Carter. The greater part of it was much charred and the remainder burned to cinders. The entire sum was about $200,000. Upwards of one-half of the denominations of the amount have been recognized, and measures will be taken for indemnifying owners and those responsible for the money.

Gen. Grant called at the Internal Revenue Bureau and had a pleasant interview of an hour's duration, with Commissioner Rollins.

A Philadelphia lady has applied for the use of the Jefferson Davis wearing apparel for exhibition.

ATTENTION TAX PAYERS.—City, school and police scrip and county warrants in sums to suit tax payers, can be obtained at the lowest rates at the Memphis City Savings Bank, corner of Jefferson and Front streets. tf

CORONER'S INQUEST.—Coroner Samelson yesterday held an inquest on the body of Wm. Wesley Holst, the negro who was shot by officer Davis day before yesterday. The jury returned a verdict according to the facts as we have given them, and entirely exonerating Davis.

GAY.—The Grecian bend never attacked the ladies as seriously as the Alpine hat has taken hold of the male portion of our community. Eugene Leidy, of the Memphis Hat Company, has spread this disease throughout the city, and has done it so effectually that, like the small pox, there is hardly enough to go around. He receives them daily, however, by express. 2t

SOUTHERN HOTEL.—On account of the large country patronage from DeSoto, Panola, Marshall and Tallahatchie counties, planters and their friends, also travelers by railroads and steamboats, we cannot take city boarders until further notice. We thank the numerous guests of the hotel for their liberal patronage. Rates reduced from $3 50 to $2 50 per day. [5t] J. S. SMITH & Co.

WE WOULD call the attention of capitalists and others to the Chancery sale of the valuable property of Jane G. Adams, which is sold to satisfy a suit of Dan'l Adams and others. The property is a certain lot of ground on Court street, near the corner of East alley. The terms are one-fifth cash the balance on a credit of six, twelve, eighteen and twenty-four months. This is a most desirable investment, and we advise all who have the money to invest to attend the sale. 2t

NEW YORK, October 13, 1867. }

Dear Sir: It is with much pleasure that I say to you that I consider the Plantation Bitters of untold value. In the fall of 1867 I was taken with chills and fever, with the most severe pains in my chest and head. It was with great difficulty that I could breathe. My lungs were greatly distressed, and there was severe pain in my right side, by spells. I could hardly get up from my bed. I called a Doctor, who attended me all winter without the least benefit. About the first of August I commenced using your Plantation Bitters—a wine glass full three times a day—and have used it most of the time since, and I am now well and strong, able to do all my own work, and the care of a large family.

THE COURTS.

CHANCERY COURT.—Wm. M. Smith, Chancellor.—The calendar of this Court published yesterday was disposed of. To-day is motion day. The roll of Attorneys will be called, commencing at letter A.

LAW COURT—H. S. Lee, Judge.—The case of Ruffin vs. Ferguson has not yet been concluded. The same case will be taken up to-day.

MUNICIPAL COURT—Geo. W. Waldran, Judge.—Yesterday's calendar was disposed of. The cases decided contained no features of public interest. To-day the motion docket will be called. No other business on the calendar.

THE THEATER.—The attendance at the New Memphis last night about paid expenses, no more. The bill embraced Milky White and The Irish Lion. Of the "beautiful domestic drama," as Milky White is entitled on the bills, "least said soonest mended." From first to last it is a failure, scarcely relieved by the peculiar humor of Mr. Couldock and the best efforts of Mr. McWade to make the most of a poor part. It is utterly wanting in plot, and does not admit of a single situation of interest either to actors or audience. Mrs. Cline and Mrs. Nellie Taylor were equal to the characters assigned them and made the most of them. As affording an opportunity for a display of a few of the peculiar characteristics of Mr. Couldock, Milky White is a success. Otherwise it is a failure, without a beauty or point to relieve the almost tedium of its insipidity. There will be abundant opportunity afforded our bon ton to-night to criticise Milky White, which, we suggest, should be kept a standing dish for those who will insist on Friday as the fashionable night. It would, better than anything the manager can offer, serve the purpose of suppressing the absurd practice, and prevent the segregation of fashionable patronage on one night, compelling its distribution during the week, when the management usually presents as attractive programmes as those of the benefit nights. The bill to-night embraces beside the Milky White, the more attractive Uncle Phil's Birthday, in which Mr. Couldock will appear as "Uncle Phil." We hope a full house will greet the beneficiary.

HATS, CAPS AND FURS.—The latest styles, best qualities, cheap, at Wheaton & Co's., 199 Main street. no11 4t

WE sell the latest and most elegant styles of ladies' cloaks, cheaper than any house in the city. RICE & ENGEL.

THE RACES.

Fourth Day of the Fall Meeting.

Warm Contests and Close Racing.

Good Time Made.

Joe Johnston Defeated After a Hard Struggle.

The light northerly winds of the past day or two had dried off the track yesterday and brought it in splendid condition—not dry enough to be dusty, or damp enough to be muddy. The weather was all that could be desired—the sun rising in the morning upon a heavy frost, which, while it was not the first of the season, was the first that was heavy enough to be visible by such late risers as reporters of a necessity are. The wind, which was also a little high in the morning, subsided before noon, and by one o'clock there could not have been a more enticing afternoon for a drive. This—the weather, and various other reasons were conducive to the largely increased number of visitors, both ladies and gentlemen, who were present on the occasion. The attendance at the ladies' stand was especially gratifying, there being certainly not less than a hundred of the very best and most elegant of our Memphis dames and damsels present.

The first race was a sweepstakes for a subscription purse of $30 each, p. p. for three year olds, two mile heats; the Association adding $500, five or more to fill. The following were the original entries:

A Keene Richards and John Kilgour enter bik f Kitty Free, three years old, by imported Mickey Free; dam Brown Kitty, by Birmingham. Colors—Silver Grey and white.

A. Keene Richards enters b c Locust Post, by Melbourne; dam by Vincent Nolle. Colors—Silver Grey and White.

S. Leonard enters ch f Ontario, by imported Bonnie Scotland; dam Lady Lancaster. Colors—Red and White.

S. Leonard enters b f Queen of the West, by imported Bonnie Scotland; dam Alia Mode. Colors—Red and White.

Wm. G. Harding enters b c Skirmisher. Colors—

Peter Mitchell enters b h Elgin, by Shelby; dam imported Emu. Colors—Red and Red.

J. V. Grigsby enters b f Minnie Milton, three years old, by Lexington; dam Miss Morgan, by Yorkshire. Colors—White, Green and Red.

Owing to the fact that several, if not all, of the entries had previously gone, the betting on the race was very lively, although cautious, every one knowing more or less about the horses entered. In the ladies' stand the bets of gloves and perfumery was very brisk for awhile, not to say reckless, Ontario being the favorite against the field. Before starting it was announced that Locust Post, Queen of the West, Skirmisher and Elgin were out of the race, leaving only Kitty Free, Ontario, and Minnie Milton to go.

FIRST HEAT.

On the toss Ontario got the track, Kitty Free second, and Minnie Milton outside—the betting being two to one on Ontario against the field. The start was made without any trouble, the horses getting off well together—Ontario leading, and Kitty second. On the first mile around scarcely any change was made in the position of the animals up to the three-quarter post, where Minnie Milton came up, and for some distance seemed, from the stand, to brush Kitty. On the home stretch Minnie dropped behind, again resuming her first position, Ontario keeping the lead. When about the distance stand, Kitty, under the spur, leaped ahead and lapped Ontario, the two passing the string in this position, which they maintained nearly all the way around—Minnie gradually dropping behind. On crossing the string Ontario led, beating Kitty only by a saddle skirt, Minnie barely saving her distance. Time, 3:52½.

SECOND HEAT.

The animals got off most beautifully, there being not a neck's length between them on passing the string, Ontario leading, Minnie second and Kitty Free third. Ontario slowly increased the distance between himself and his competitors from the start. At the half mile, which he made in fifty-four seconds, he led by two good lengths, Minnie Milton having, meantime, closed up, and was then running neck and neck with Kitty. At the three-quarters Minnie shot ahead and when they passed the string Minnie and Ontario were nose and nose, Kitty brinking up the rear six lengths behind. The betting at this juncture was twenty-five to three, and even twenty to two on Ontario, with few takers, Minnie being next favorite, with odds of two to one, and plenty of takers. But little change was made in this round until the home stretch, when Ontario, seemingly with ease, leaped at once a half length ahead of Minnie and kept so to the stand, winning the heat and the race, Minnie Milton second and Kitty Free third. Time, 3:55¼.

SUMMARY.

S. Leonard's ch. f. Ontario	1 1
Keene Richard's and Kilgour's blk f. Kitty Free	2 2
Grigsby's Minnie Milton	3 3

Time—3:52½; 3:55¼.

SECOND RACE.

This was for the Bankers' Purse of $300, mile heats, free for all, with the following entries:

E. Warwick enters Joe Johnston, aged, by Goodwood; dam Judy, by Sovereign. Colors—Blue and red.

Wm. Brady enters b f Agnes Donovan, four years old, by Lexington; dam Little Peggy, by Cripple. Colors—Red and White.

James Conlisk enters b h Larkin, five years old, by Lexington, out of Magenta. Colors—Blue and Blue; Orange sash.

O. O. West enters br g Bee Farris, three years old, by Melbourne; dam by Glencoe. Colors—Red and Green.

S. Leonard enters ch h Rochester, four years old, by imported Bonnie Scotland; dam Lady Lancaster. Colors—Red and White.

In the pool-selling and betting Larkin was largely the favorite against the field, Joe Johnston being next choice, Agnes Donovan, Farris and Rochester, each having their friends, who staked them about equally. The horses, on being brought on the track, with the exception of Agnes Donovan, looked splendidly, Larkin and Joe Johnston especially making a most beautiful appearance. The Donovan mare looked unwell, and lacked that exuberance of spirits which marked all of her competitors. All of the animals were well jockeyed—too well, in fact, each being more intent on getting the start of the others than in making a good "get-off." Joe Johnston's rider was a negro boy, who sat him like he was a part of him, and Larkin was ridden by "Bobby," the jockey who has won so many a purse for Mr. Conlisk. Johnston's rider found it impossible to bring him down to his work at first, or indeed to do anything with him when bringing him toward the line. For this reason a good start was next thing to impossible, and nine ineffectual attempts were made before the tap was given. When on the fourth trial both horses were let loose and the "go" given, Johnston led, Larkin following closely, and the other entries lapping each other. At the half post Larkin drew up to Joe, and on these two the whole attention of the throng was concentrated, the other entries being almost ignored. On the home stretch the excitement was intense, Joe and Larkin being so close that, to use the hackneyed expression, "a blanket would have covered them." As they neared the stand, with lightning speed, cheer after cheer broke from the concourse, and the waving of gloves and handkerchiefs from the ladies' stand, testified their enthusiasm at the glorious struggle. On crossing the line, the most accurate eye could not detect any difference between them, and the involuntary exclamation was "a dead heat!" Agnes Donovan made a good second, Bee Farris and Rochester distanced.

For a few moments after the horses passed the line, and as they returned, the judges were engaged in deep and earnest conversation, and the timers and reporters were beseiged by anxious inquiries, which only ceased when the portly President stepped forward on the ladies' stand and turned the blackboard. At this moment a deep silence prevailed, which was broken by tremendous cheers when he announced: "The race between Joe Johnston and Larkin a dead heat; Agnes Donovan second; Bee Farris and Rochester distanced. Time, 1:52." The betting was still in favor of Larkin, 100 to 26, with plenty of takers. Indeed, Joe Johnston's friends sought bets, and when Larkin's backers lagged they stirred them up with more advantageous offers.

SECOND HEAT.

Johnston's impetuosity and the jockeying proclivities of the rider of Larkin again caused considerable delay by making two false starts. On the third trial the horses got off well together, Johnston leading slightly. Agnes Donovan looked very much improved by the first heat, and from the manner in which she sprung ahead at the go, caused her stock in the pools to go up considerably. At the first quarter Johnston still led Larkin by a half length, widening the distance between them and the Donovan mare. At the half the leaders remained about the same position to each other, still widening the gap between them and the mare. On the home stretch Larkin, by a tremendous effort, came up a half length, and again the two gallant brutes passed the string with apparently not an inch difference between them, the mare being distanced. The excitement had now grown intense, and the anxiety to hear the announcement of the race was at fever heat. The horses as soon as they could be check up came back, and the judges, along with the distance judges, were soon engaged in earnest conversation. The excitement was increased in a few moments, by seeing Gen. Forrest leap into a buggy, with one or both of the jockies, and ride off toward the other side of the track. It was soon asserted that foul riding had been claimed by the riders of both horses, and the General had gone to examine the ground. As soon as he returned—which was in the course of eight or ten minutes, the President announced that Larkin had won the heat, Johnston second, and Agnes Donovan, distanced. Time 1:50. This announcement was received with hearty cheers by the friends of Larkin, and by silence on the part of the "Johnston men." The claim of foul was not allowed either.

THIRD HEAT.

The owner of Joe Johnston, becoming dissatisfied with the rider of his horse, on this heat put a new jocky on him, and the result was a marked improvement in getting off, a beautiful start being made at the first attempt. The betting was now $30 to $10 on Larkin with ready takers. On crossing the string, at the "send off," Larkin had a little the lead. There was no change in the position up to the half stake, where it became evident that Larkin was leaving Joe, and had put a full length between them. This distance he steadily increased to the third quarter and down the home stretch, coming in three to four lengths ahead, winning the heat and race—time, 1:54½. The result was hailed with cheers that made the welkin ring, in which even the friends and backers of Joe Johnston joined, the disappointment of losing being made up for by admiration for the gallant Larkin.

INCIDENTS.

At the close of the first race the President announced from the stand that the officers of the Association, owners of horses and members of the press were "wanted" at the Judges' Stand. On retiring thither it was found to be on the invitation of Mr. E. Smith, who on the second day won the "Wine Race." The Piper Heidsieck was splendid, and was enjoyed hugely by all who were fortunate enough to be of the favored few invited.

As the horses were coming down the home stretch with lightning speed, at the close of the first race, a plank in front of the grand stand gave away, and a little lad, about seven years old, named Willie Pierce, was precipitated on to the track, failing nearly twenty feet. He was picked up covered with blood and carried to his home, which was near by. We understand he was not injured much, the blood coming from his tongue, which he bit in his fall.

To-day the winner of the Post Stake will be presented with a beautiful jockey cap, purse and gold-mounted whip. The cap and purse are made of crimson, green and white satin, trimmed with gold.

POOLS.

At the pool-selling last night for to-day's races, Wolford was first choice, Gilroy second, Little Mack third. The indications are now that to-day will be the most exciting day's sport of the fall meeting. May the best horse win!

RECANTATION OF REV. J. W. ROGERS.

The End of Ritualism in Memphis.

The Priest of the Blessed Virgin Abjures Protestantism.

He Believes that Rome is the Center of the Master's Kingdom.

MEMPHIS, November 12, 1868.

To the Congregation of "The Church of the Blessed Virgin."

Beloved, in Christ: Grappling, however feebly, with the manifold errors of Rationalism, during the past year, I determined some months since, as you all know, to throw myself, heart and soul, into the effort now being made by the Catholic party in the Church of England, to unite that Church with the Church of Rome; but unwilling to do anything stealthily, I preached and wrote too boldly for my Brethren, and declared on the house-top what others admitted in private. The Bishop sent his "interdiction," but was unable consistently to try me; meanwhile my studies and efforts convinced me, more and more, that even if our clergy were ready for such a union as that proposed, the People would, for the most part, split on the rock of private interpretation, so that, after all, our partial success would only be a quasi justification for future schisms, whenever ambitious rulers, ecclesiastical or civil, should grow restive under the Cross; and therefore, after mature deliberation, led, I humbly trust, by the Holy Spirit, I have determined to renounce the Episcopal Church, and leave the rest to God. Should those pure and noble spirits who have hitherto sought the Catholic truth under my poor ministrations, now feel bound to abandon all further investigation in this behalf I need scarcely say, considering the awful struggles my own soul has experienced, that it is what most men would do. It is a fearful thing to meet the averted glances of those who once loved us, but far more terrible it will be, Beloved, to meet an offended God and Saviour.

I have, therefore, deliberately (though most unworthy of it) ascended this cross, even while my friendless wife and children, like the Blessed Virgin and Saint John, suffer around it.

I believe the Ancient See of Rome to be the center of all jurisdiction in my Master's Kingdom, and humbly yield to convictions which all my worldly hopes and interests would disperse.

Appealing to God, the Father, Son and Holy Ghost, for the purity of my motives, I am, as ever, your faithful servant in Christ Jesus.
J. W. ROGERS.

LECTURE BY THE REV. DR. PALMER.

The Largest and Most Fashionable Gathering Ever Seen in Memphis.

Interesting Discourse on the Mission of the Church.

It is our pleasure to record the fact that last night the largest and most fashionable gathering ever seen in Memphis assembled at the Greenlaw Opera House to greet the Rev. Dr. Palmer, the eloquent and gifted divine, on occasion of his lecture on "The Mission of the Church" for the benefit of the Ladies' Mission Chapel Association of the Presbyterian Church. Not only was the church, of which Dr. Palmer is an ornament, well represented, but every denomination of Christians, by the most distinguished and thoughtful of their members. It was a fitting compliment to the genius that presided over the occasion and the highest that Memphis can afford. Beauty, wealth, intellectual culture and intelligence were well represented in the elegant auditory before whom Dr. Palmer discoursed most eloquently, and with all of his old charm of manner, upon the comprehensive subject, "The Mission of the Church." Listened to with marked attention, the matter as well as manner of delivery were well worthy of it. We regret that want of space prevents the placing before our readers this morning a more complete report than that which we append, and which will but poorly convey to them an idea of the combination of dignity, simplicity, erudition and scholarly attainment that make up the charm of the first among the eloquent Christian divines of the South.

The lecturer introduced his subject by presenting some of the objections made against Christianity, and its alleged absurdity, as well as the denial of the necessity of Revelation, which charges the Church could well afford to let pass by in silence. To the Church was due the elevation of the world, and no lever was so powerful to counteract the evils which cling around great cities as so many festering sores, as that of the influence of Christianity. Of all the instruments which could be devoted to remedy great social evils, none compare to the Church of the living God. His province to-night was to impress upon the minds of his hearers the value of this great and all powerful instrument in developing and making out great results. The Church was a divine institution, and as such had unlimited resources given to it by the Savior of mankind. The germ not only of Christianity, but of the Church, ran back to the most remote ages. It had passed triumphantly through successive generations and had outlived all the empires of the earth. "Where are they now?" asked the speaker. If there be an empire which must fall it is the one established by force, but the Church of God has been reserved immortal until the present time and throws its religious influence over the whole world. God has created it and given it a character. "If I," said the speaker, "were to have the choosing of the Thermopylæ of the Church—the ground upon which the last grand battle of Christianity was to be fought—I would select the doctrine of the New Birth, which, by regenerating the heart, made man, who was inherently bad, inherently good. The Church is the proper and only medium for reforming society. Her only weapon is truth—her only argument is love. It addresses itself to the reason of men, using no other instrument but truth. Her influence upon the earth will continue to increase forever. She must, therefore, be a power in the world, and her energies, where once aroused, no power can withstand." He alluded to the Church as a Kingdom, with Christ as its Monarch, and illustrated its love for all mankind by referring to the little child, the loving wife and the boundlessness of a mother's love. He alluded to the living ministry, urged the multiplication of churches. Build up all the waste places with mission chapels. He confessed his disapproval of large and overgrown churches, and thought that none should be permitted to expand until they became unmanageable. The next necessity was to vitalize them, infuse life into them, form committees of male and female members, who should go out into the lanes and thoroughfares to succor the needy, comfort the distressed, nurse the sick, place the word of the living God in the hands of all, distribute tracts, and in a word never to cease doing good. The Reverend gentleman paid a glorious tribute to woman and the earnest labor she was capable of performing in drawing souls to God. He also, in his remarks, complimented Memphis, her past and the great future in store for her. We must reiterate our regret that the eloquent discourse could not be given in full, but our space will only permit a short and disconnected synopsis.

OVERTON HOTEL, }
MEMPHIS, TENN., November 12, 1868. }

Mr. David C. Cross, Memphis, Tenn:

Dear Sir: You will please excuse me for addressing you through the public journals, as I have been trying to find you, that I might have the pleasure of a private interview with you, but have not been able to do so. I wished to see you relative to certain interrogatories sent from Calhoun, Ga., for you to answer, regarding the title to a certain tract of land in Arkansas, known as Section No. 8, Township 7 north, Range 3 east. In answer to the question if you knew one James W. Landrum, you are made to answer that you did—that said Landrum deserted the Confederate army and joined the Federal army. Now it is too much for me to believe that a man of your standing could make such a false statement on oath; hence, I desire to give you an opportunity to acquit yourself of the crime of perjury, as I never belonged to the Confederate army, and much less would I have joined the Federal army. I was opposed to secession, believing that it would ruin our country. But when secession took place, when I was North, I counseled peace—when South I advocated compromise, therefore my hands are free from shedding fraternal blood, my tongue is free from counseling the shedding of blood, and what is still more my soul is free from the crime of perjury. You are also made to say, by what purports to be your answers, that I went down to Helena and persuaded Jesse A. Jackson to change a certificate; which is also false. As proof that it is false, I never saw Jesse A. Jackson, but he sent the certificate by mail, and I have his letter to that effect. You are made still further to say that I bid for a certain tract of land before I had sold it, and bid for it against you. This is also false, as I had sold the land before the sales came off as referred to, as the records will show. And further, I never opened my mouth to bid against you for any piece of land whatever. But what is still more ridiculous is that you are made to say that I once accused you of obtaining your title fraudulently, but that you made me take it back instanter. Well now, that would be wonderful for a man to make such a statement as that on oath, as I never had any hard words with you about the land, as Jesse A. Jackson wrote to me telling that he gave you your title through a mistake. Now it is hard for me to believe that your courage has got so high in your old age that you would do like the boy in Longstreet's "Georgia Scenes," that you would be fighting the ground and sticking your thumbs in it, crying, "Gouge him!" "Gouge him!" So far from ever having any words with you, the last time I saw you was on the train from Madison to Memphis. I was then on my way to Nashville, and if there was any hard feelings between us I did not know it, for I believe we were talking most of the way from Madison to Memphis, and I thought we had rather a pleasant time. Now I am prepared to prove every statement that I have made. When the war commenced I was a member of the Lower House of the Legislature of Arkansas. I am now Senator from the thirty-second district of the State of Georgia. I was unanimously nominated by the Democratic party and elected—and elected by a people that understood my course during the war. I will be at the Overton some time.
Yours etc, JAMES W. LANDRUM.

ACCIDENT ON THE LOUISVILLE RAILROAD.

Son of the Rev. Mr. Neal, of Humboldt, Killed.

No Memphians Injured.

[Special to Memphis Appeal.]

HUMBOLDT, November 12.—The train from Memphis to Louisville ran off the track this morning, sixteen miles south of Brownsville, killing a little son of Rev. Mr. Neal of this place, wounding his wife and several other persons, but none seriously. I, as well as other Memphians on board, escaped without injury. Dr. Rogers of our city rendered great service to the wounded. The accident was caused by a broken rail. The engine and two coaches ran over uninjured, but the third coach, containing most of the passengers, was wrenched from the track and overturned. In this condition the car was dragged 80 or 100 yards before the coupling gave way. None of the officers to blame, and Conductor Jones was at his post and did all he could for the suffering.

FINANCE.

OFFICE OF THE DAILY APPEAL, MEMPHIS, November 12, 1868.

The demand for money to-day from cotton buyers was not well distributed. Some of our banks had all offered that they care about taking, while others complained of a scarcity. The counter demand is active upon points East as well as on New Orleans, and rates are irregular. Buying at ½@¾c discount on the former, and ¼c discount on the latter point. Selling at par on New Orleans, and at par@¼c discount on New York, Boston, etc.

City Bonds are quiet. Dealers offer 52@52½c, and sell at 53@54c. We could learn of no transactions.

City Scrip is again becoming the subject of anxious inquiry from tax payers. Every day it becomes firmer, or advances, and still those who must have it put off the purchase, hoping for something to turn up. We assure them that something will turn up, and by the 1st of December they will be unable to buy at less than 90c. Transactions upon the street have about ceased, as there is none outside the hands of dealers, who will not sell in sums to suit at less than 83@85c.

County Warrants are in active demand from speculators, who are eager to buy at 70@71c, but none can be found. Tax payers can buy at 78@80c, with possibly an occasional opportunity at 75@76c, but dealers generally are not selling, hoping to get higher figures in a week or two.

School Scrip has been about all absorbed.

Police Scrip is steady at 80@ buying. Selling at 85c.

Gold opened in New York at 134¼c and closed at 133⅝c. There is very light transactions in this market with an active demand. Dealers buy at an advance of ¼@¾c over New York rates, and sell at 135@136c.

COTTON.

The Liverpool market was quiet at the opening to-day, Uplands 10½@11d, Orleans 11½@11¾d, and at 1:20 p.m. was dull and tending downwards. Sales, 10,000 bales. Uplands, 10¾d, Orleans, 11¾d.

The New York market opened dull and nominal, and at noon was irregular with sales of 2000 bales, nearly all upon a basis of 24c for Middlings. At the close it was quiet but steady with 24c bid, but held at 24¼c.

The New Orleans market opened with prices weak, but a fair demand, Middlings 23@23½c, and at 2 p.m. was dull and tending downwards but not quotably lower.

Our market was quiet with holders not generally disposed to make concessions. The sales for the day were light and upon a basis of 22@22½c for Middlings, but at the close holders were firm at the outside figure, while many were asking 22½c. We quote as follows:

Ordinary	20 @20½
Good Ordinary	21 @—
Low Middlings	21½@21¾
Middlings	22 @22¼
Strict Middlings	22¾@23
Good Middlings	23½@24

A correspondent of the New York Herald, who has given a large share of his attention to statistics of the cotton crop of this year and its value, thinks that the speculators will not be able to play the same game they did last year. The entire yield of cotton in 1867 and 1868 brought in round figures $221,000,000, the average price per bale being eighty-five dollars. Below is given the estimated value of the present crop, averaging each bale at $110:

States.	Estimate Crop by Bales.	Money Val
Georgia	330,000	$36,300,000
Alabama	300,000	33,000,000
South Carolina	290,000	32,000,000
Mississippi	300,000	33,000,000
Tennessee	210,000	23,100,000
Arkansas	160,000	17,600,000
Louisiana	250,000	27,500,000
North Carolina	75,000	8,800,000
Virginia	40,000	4,400,000
Texas	160,000	17,600,000
Florida	30,000	3,300,000
Totals	2,015,000	$221,650,000
Add to the above a possible increase of one hundred thousand bales coming from Missouri, Kentucky, Illinois, etc., and the total value of 2,115,000 bales for the crop of 1868-9 will be		$232,750,000
Value of cotton crop of 1867-8, estimated at 1,900,000 bales		201,000,000
Increased money value present crop		$31,750,000

Had this been a full crop—say 2,760,000 bales—the value of the staple would not have been so great; but it would not have been less than $100 per bale, or $276,000,000. Even as things now stand, if the planters are able to resist the pressure of the speculators they will hold their cotton and obtain a fair price. Of course it is not claimed that the above estimate of the crop in bales is absolutely correct, but as near so as can be arrived at this early in the season.

TRADE.

The only change in our general markets since yesterday which we find worthy of note is the downward tendency of flour. This weakness has been apparent, and has been increasing since harvest. To-day the market is duller probably than at any time this season. The stock is large, and the best family brands are selling at $12@12 50 by the dray load, while low grades are very dull and irregular. Clear bacon sides are also some weaker; 15 casks were sold during the day by one house at 19½c. They are still scarce, however, and orders for small amounts can't be filled at less than 19½@20c. Bulk meats will be in market to-day, and from henceforth will generally supercede bacon. Old mess pork is scarce at $30, while new mess, guaranteed as to weight and cure, is offered at $28@28 50. Short weight mess pork will not be apt to find its way to this market this season, as all packers are required henceforth to brand their names upon each barrel. This, it is thought, will prevent much of the rascality practiced heretofore, and which has brought the meats of Chicago especially into bad repute with our dealers. The packing season in that market has not been favorable so far to packers, who, it is alleged, have to pay prices which will not justify on account of the competition from outside buyers, many of whom have flocked there.

Since writing the above we learn of one or two lots bulk meats being received. Clear sides are held at 18c; bulk shoulders, 13c.

The Commissioner of Internal Revenue has decided that dealers in liquors, on making returns of distilled spirits on hand, are required to draw off into regular barrels what at the time may be in their stand-casks, in order that it may be guaged and stamped.

LAUDERDALE STREET LOTS.

ON SATURDAY MORNING NEXT, November 14th, at 11 o'clock, we will sell, on the grounds, TWO BUILDING LOTS, situated on the eastside of Lauderdale street, just south of the residence of Mr. Rollins, between Linden and Vance streets. These are very desirable Lots, and are in one of the best improved locations in the city, and on the line of the Street Railway.

RIVER MATTERS.

WEATHER AND RIVERS.

The weather is again moderating, and yesterday was warm almost as before the late cold snap. A heavy frost covered roofs and fences in the morning, but it was soon dissipated. The rise has hardly reached this point as yet, but we may look for it within the next thirty-six hours. The upper Mississippi is swelling very rapidly, and serious fears are entertained of an overflow which will exceed that of last June, should cold weather not set in with its hand of ice and cut it off. The Ohio is failing to Cincinnati and Louisville, but is still rising slowly below with about six feet on the worst bars. The Arkansas is falling with three feet to Pine Bluff and thirty inches to Little Rock.

MISCELLANEOUS.

A lard oil lamp fell, or was broken, on board the Empire on Wednesday night, causing an alarm of fire. No serious damage was done.

We said yesterday that Larry Harmstad had been appointed agent of the Memphis and Louisville line of packets. It should have been the Louisville and New Orleans packet line.

The towboat Alps, which recently sunk at Louisville, has been raised and has gone to Madison for repairs.

The Mollie Able will have to be docked at St. Louis. She sprung her butts on her down trip by running into the bank.

The Argonaut is due from the Ohio.

The Dora, bound from Cincinnati to New Orleans, was aground in the Ohio at last report.

Large quantities of cotton are lying on the bank of the Arkansas awaiting shipment. Not more than one-fourth of it comes to Memphis.

The Nick Longworth, Capt. Ross will pass down to-day for New Orleans at 10 a.m.

The Julia, Capt. Lockhart, with Andy Isaacs in the office, will pass down for Vicksburg to-day at 5 p.m. She is the regular U. S. mail packet.

The Guidon, Capt. Clay Rice, will be in port to-day and leaves to-morrow for Pine Bluff. She will ply between the Bluff and the mouth of White river in connection with the Mayflower, Liberty and Commercial, making two trips per week. Garnett Hulls is her chief clerk.

The handsome Natoma, Capt. Lee, will back out to-day for Friar's Point and way landings. She is the regular packet, and is one of the best afloat. Fields, Whitehead and Lee are her clerks.

The Empire, Capt. Harton, gets away to-day for Cincinnati. She is a No. 1 packet.

The Emma Floyd came in yesterday with a good trip, from the Ohio. Our old friend, Capt. Jim Chenoweth, is in command of the Emma, and his name alone is a guarantee for a large return trip to Cincinnati. His boat is a big carrier, wants but little water and goes through without barges. Mr. R. W. Wise, an old Arkansas river clerk, is in her office.

The Indiana leaves Louisville to-morrow for New Orleans. The Dexter was to have left on Thursday.

The National Hotel at Louisville is becoming very popular since Capt. John T. Shirley took hold of it.

The elegant Mayflower, Capt. Ashford, with Charley Smither at the desk, packs out to-morrow for all points on the White river, and connects closely with the Little Rock train.

The fine steamer Ruth will be in port to leave to-morrow evening for Vicksburg and New Orleans. Cotton will be received for her on the levee, previous to her arrival, by Bob Speed, a competent receiving clerk.

The Ozark, Capt. Blasdell, did not get away last night, but awaits her regular day, Monday next, when she will get away for Pine Bluff and way points.

The passenger steamer City of Cairo is due, and will no doubt be found at the landing this morning. She leaves at 4 p.m. for Cairo and St. Louis. Capt. Malin is master, and the popular, good-looking and polite Mr. Monroe T. Cunningham does the honors of her office right royally. The Cairo makes all connections.

The U. S. mail steamer Commercial will be in port to leave to-morrow for all points to Vicksburg. She is a Memphis packet, and deserves all the patronage our merchants can bestow. John Elson commands, and Thompson and Waddell are associated in the office.

Packet Compa'y.

NOTICE

IS hereby given that an organization has been effected under a charter granted by the Legislature of Tennessee, November 17, 1866, entitled "An Act to incorporate the Memphis and Arkansas River Packet Company."

JOHN D. ADAMS,
I. M. TEBBETTS,
JAMES LAWSON,
S. L. HAINES,
HARRISON BLASDEL, } Directors.

The Line of Boats known as the "Memphis and Arkansas River U. S. Mail Packet Company," is merged in the chartered company.

JOHN D. ADAMS, President.

J. M. TEBBETTS, Secretary.

☞ The following boats will each make a trip a week until the new boats of the Company, now being built, are finished; leaving MEMPHIS as heretofore, on MONDAYS and THURSDAYS, at 8 o'clock p.m:

Thursday, S'er W. A. Caldwell, Haines Master.

Monday, Steamer Ozark, Nowland, Master.

Connecting at Little Rock with the steamers Van Buren, Fort Smith and American, for all points above, as high as Fort Gibson.

From the 1st to the 16th of November the new boats will be finished, and the Company will then run four boats from Memphis through to Fort Smith, giving direct communication with all points on the river, the Arkansas river now being in good navigable condition. Passengers and freight are put through to all points on the river without delay, and at reasonable rates.

All persons shipping freight for any point on the Arkansas river from North or East of Memphis, should have their goods consigned to JNO. D. ADAMS, Memphis. Merchandize shipped from New Orleans should be consigned to W. W. JOHNSON, Napoleon, Ark.

WOLFE'S Schiedam Schnapps.

THE above Medicinal Beverage is manufactured by the proprietor, at his distillery, in Schiedam, Holland, expressly for medicinal use.

It is now some twenty years since the proprietor first introduced it to the American public, and during that time he has received over three thousand letters from physicians, indorsing it as the purest liquor they have ever used in their practice.

It is made from barley of the finest quality, selected with great care from the products of the most celebrated grain-growing districts, is flavored with the essence of the aromatic juniper-berry of Italy, and is rectified by a peculiar process, which expels from the spirit every acrid particle.

As a means of preventing and correcting the disagreeable and often dangerous effect produced upon the stomach and bowels by a change of water or vacation to which travelers, new settlers, and all unaccustomed persons in the West, the South, and Southwest are peculiarly liable—the SCHIEDAM AROMATIC SCHNAPPS will be found absolutely infallible; while in cases of drop-y, gravel, obstructions of the kidneys, diseases of the bladder, stricture, dyspepsia and general debility, it is recommended most emphatically by the most distinguished members of the medical profession.

It is put up in quart and pint bottles, in cases, with the name of the undersigned on the bottle and cork, and a fac-simile of his signature on the label. For sale by all respectable druggists and country merchants.

TRUST SALE.

Trust Sale.

BY virtue of a Deed of Trust executed to me as Trustee by Hetty Lanier, F. R. Lanier and Martha Lanier, dated the 24th day of March, 1866, I will sell, as Trustee, for the purpose of paying the debts specified in said deed, they not having been paid, at public auction, to the highest bidder for cash, at Bethell's corner, Main street, Memphis, Tennessee,

On the 5th Day of December, 1868,

The lands described in the deed of trust, to-wit: One tract of land containing about thirteen hundred acres, situated in the county of Mississippi, State of Arkansas, in Section Island, on the Mississippi river, opposite Island No. 34, being the land purchased by Isaac Lanier of Sarah Harbert, and on which said Isaac resided at his death; and one other tract of land situated in the same county and State, and lying on said river opposite Island No. 35, and known as the Williams farm, and purchased by said Isaac of Josiah Williams and E. H. Ewing, and a description of which will be found in their deed to said Isaac. The said above described tract has been duly recorded in the office of the Clerk of the Circuit Court of said county of Mississippi, in Record Book Vol. 3, pages 257, 258 and 259, to which reference is made for the terms thereof. This the 27th day of August, 1868
